Death crash driver handed £100 fine

BY STEPHEN EXLEY

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

THE mother of two teenage boys killed in an accident, along with their father, has described her devastation at the sentence passed down to the woman who caused the crash.

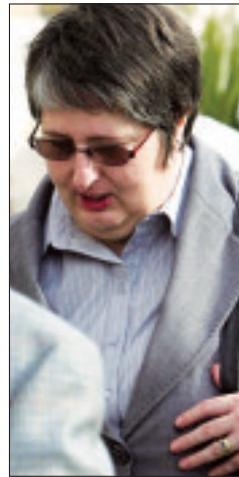

Lisa Bocking, 40, was speeding at more than 70mph when she clipped a kerb and lost control of her Peugeot 806 on the A1307 at Horseheath on July 19 last year.

Cambridge Magistrates' Court handed Bocking just a 12-month driving ban and £100 fine after hearing how the people carrier careered across the road and hit an oncoming car, before landing in a ditch.

Bocking's husband David and his children, Daniel, 14, and Stephen, 13, died, but his 8-year-old daughter Amanda, also a passenger, survived.

She pleaded guilty to a charge of driving without due care and attention.

Tracey Horne, Mr Bocking's ex-wife and the mother of the two boys, says their death has

She said: "They were such wonderful boys, both very kind and always thinking of other people. I know the court had their hands tied with the sentence because of points of law, but it has left me totally, utterly devastated."

Presiding magistrate Philip Peacock described the accident as "very tragic".

Bocking, of Halstead, was disqualified from driving for 12 months, fined £100 and ordered to pay £35 costs plus a £15 government surcharge.

Deborah Coote, who was driving the Volkswagen Golf which collided with the Peugeot, and her two passengers survived the crash, but sustained serious injuries.

Describing the moments after the collision, Laura Mardell, prosecuting, said: "The defendant's car was airborne, flew on to the verge, turning sideways, and eventually landed in a ditch."

Bocking had claimed she hit the kerb after trying to avoid another car while she was driving at 50mph.

But accident investigators said there was no evidence another car had been involved, and argued tyre marks on the road suggested the Peugeot must have been travelling at more than 74mph.

Hazel Padmore, mitigating said: "Mrs Bocking has already been punished significantly in relation to the accident."

Shop design challenge produced magical ideas

CHILDREN rose to the challenge of designing the Most Amazing

Shop in the World.
The Year 4 pupils at Westfield Primary

School in Haverhill were set the retail therapy task as an extended homework project – and they did not disappoint.

They came up with ideas that ranged from a magic emporium, a celebrity wedding shop, Noah's Ark Pet Shop and a ritzy Cyber Café.

Pupils were allowed to enlist the help of parents, grandparents and siblings to complete the six-week task.

The school invited Cllr Elaine McManus, the deputy mayor, Della Morris, chairlady of the Ladies Circle, and governor Ray Cleaver to join children to vote for their favourites in several categories.

Jill Lightfoot, deputy headteacher, said: "Westfield parents are always so supportive in everything they do and are especially talented when it comes to encouraging their children to go the extra mile. We always like to present work which gets our children being creative and thinking outside the box. They certainly managed to do this, this time."

Police pledge on older people

A CHARTER for older people has been signed by the police in Suffolk.

The county's Chief Constable Simon Ash together with Cllr David Wood, vice-chairman of Suffolk Police Authority, signed the charter in a ceremony at police headquarters at Martlesham, near Ipswich.

The Charter for Older People was created by the Suffolk Older People's Partnership Board (OPSPB).

The board, formed in 2006, acts as a formal voice for all older people in Suffolk and is made up of various organisations, groups and individual older people.

The charter states that older people have a right of recognition and respect, should receive relevant information, have the right of independence and control over their own affairs, should be involved in issues that concern them and have a right to health and well-being.

Daphne Savage, chief executive of Age Concern Suffolk and chairwoman of the Suffolk Older People's Partnership Board said: "I am delighted that Suffolk police have publicly signed up to the charter.

"The police are a vital partner in making the charter a reality for older people in Suffolk, because they are often the first 'port of call' for vulnerable older people or for people who are concerned about an older person.

"Suffolk police are seen as a 'trusted supporter' by older residents of the county and the more of their officers we can have out and about in Suffolk, the better we all feel."

Mr Ash said: "We are delighted to be signing up to the Charter for Older People.

"I am confident that the service provided by the constabulary can meet the themes set out in the charter and it is an ideal opportunity to publicly show our commitment to age as a strand of diversity.

"The constabulary's policing pledge supports the principles set out in the charter and is underpinned by the work of our safer neighbourhood teams based within communities countywide."

Cllr Wood said: "Around 19 per cent of Suffolk's population is over 65 years old. Providing a high quality police service, while making sure communities value and trust what we do, depends on Suffolk Constabulary's officers and staff understanding, respecting and valuing the wealth of diversity in the communities they serve."

Thief steals from vehicle

STEREO equipment and other items worth nearly £900 have been stolen from a car.

The silver-coloured Peugeot 206 was parked in Mallow Walk, Haverhill, when the door lock was broken. The equipment included a Kenwood CD player, a Kicker amplifier and sub-woofer and Infinity speakers which were built into the parcel shelf. A Tom Tom satellite navigation screen and CDs were also stolen. Police have reminded drivers to remove anything of value from their vehicles.

Anyone with information about the incident which happened between 5.30pm on Saturday and 5.30pm on Sunday should call Pc Jonathan Chapman at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Lap top stolen from school

THIEVES got away with a lap top computer worth around £1,000 after breaking in to a school. An alarm is believed to have scared off the burglars at Place Farm Primary School, in Camps Road, Haverhill, and may have prevented anything else being stolen.

Anyone with information about the burglary, which happened between 2.05am and 3.20am last Wednesday, should call Pc Victoria Antisthate at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Wheels taken overnight

A SET of wheels were stolen from a car parked at Haverhill overnight. Between 4.20pm on Thursday, March 26, and 6.45am the next day, the thieves removed front and rear nearside wheels from a Ford Escort at Meeting Walk.

Anyone who was in the area at the time, who saw anything suspicious or who knows the identity of the offender or offenders should contact police on (01284) 774100.

Sports club break-in BURGLARS broke into a sports club. The break-in happened at a sports club on Norton Road, Haverhill, between 7pm on March 30 and 7pm the next day. The burglars forced a door and stole boxing equipment. Anyone with information should call Pc Andrew Green at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Date set for clinic opening

A TOWN'S brand new GP surgery and walk-in health centre will open in June.

A start date of Wednesday, June 3, has been set for the centre off Withersfield Road, Haverhill, which will be housed in temporary "pods" for three years and is currently in the final stages of being fitted out.

The high specification health centre, for registered and non-registered patients will offer appointments and walk-in service to people in Haverhill and the surrounding areas.

It will be open from 8am to 8pm, seven days a week, 365 days a year, and run by The Practice plc, working alongside the three existing family doctor practices in Haverhill.

As well as the usual GP services, the centre will offer treatment for minor injuries, blood testing, clinics for substance and alcohol misuse, as well as weight management, smoking, sexual health, contraceptives and childhood obesity.

The bid to secure a permanent home for the services, which could involve a purpose-built centre or refurbished facility is still under way.

Melanie Craig, deputy director of performance at NHS Suffolk, said: "We're very much looking forward to the GP surgery and walk-in centre opening, and it becoming a valued healthcare facility for the people of Haverhill and the surrounding area."

Hats off to school's Easter creativity

YOUNGSTERS at a pre-school made their own hats for a colourful Easter parade.

A total of 26 children at Haverhill's Happy Faces Pre-school in Colne Valley Road took part in the event to mark the end of term.

All those taking part received a chocolate egg and the winners were Joe Brown and Kitty Short, both aged four.

Elaine Hatfield, who runs the pre-school, said: "The children all enjoyed themselves and they sang songs for the parents."

'Public supports three unitaries'

AN ALLIANCE of three councils says there is massive local support for its plan for a three unitary council option for Suffolk to be included in a public consultation.

It claims a survey by a leading market research company showed 60 per cent backed its plan for East Suffolk, West Suffolk and Ipswich authorities, compared to just 25 per cent for the Boundary Committee's preferred option for a single authority.

The research also showed that people believed smaller unitary authorities would be better than "big government" at dealing with their needs.

A letter from the alliance of three councils – Forest Heath, St Edmundsbury and Waveney – has been sent to the Secretary of State, Hazel Blears, along with the results of the survey.

The councils commissioned Opinion Research Business to carry out a telephone poll of 804 Suffolk residents in January.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

They claim the survey showed there is no such thing as "One Suffolk".

While associations with the county were strong, the survey found there were very different communities within Suffolk, and residents had a strong sense of association with the town or village where they lived, with 80 per cent feeling very or fairly strongly that they belonged to these places.

Researchers claim that, with just one exception, people felt they "belonged" more to their current district/borough than they did to Suffolk as a whole.

The council alliance claims this undermines the arguments that people will readily identify with the "remote" and "homogenous concepts" of either a single unitary or a large rural unitary for Suffolk.

The survey also claimed that the Boundary Committee had not sufficiently engaged Suffolk communities in the review process.

It showed that 53 per cent of those polled were "not aware of the review" and only 2 per cent were "aware – and knew a great deal about what was being discussed".

The researchers said this indicated a "clear inability" on the part of the Boundary Committee to engage properly with residents and present preferred options to them in a clear and digestible manner.

Support for three unitaries was marginally higher among residents of Forest Heath (65 per cent), St Edmundsbury (68 per cent) and Waveney (72 per cent) council areas than in other Suffolk areas.

Residents thought three unitaries would be more efficient and more accountable than two, feeling that Suffolk as one entity is simply too big to be accountable or to efficiently manage local services.

A total of 78 per cent opposed the moving of Lowestoft into Norfolk.

Hungarian driver jailed after friend killed in crash

A HUNGARIAN driver was jailed for eight months for causing the death of a friend from Haverhill when the vehicle he was driving crashed into a tree.

Bela Kristof, 22, of Nunnery

Stud, Thetford, appeared at Norwich Crown Court to admit a charge of causing bodily harm by wanton and furious driving to Balazs Takacs, aged 27, of School Terrace, Wrating Road, Haverhill.

Kristof was said to have driven at high speed in the grounds of the stud in icy conditions before losing control of the vehicle, which then hit a tree.

Had the accident been on a public road rather than private land Kristof would have faced a longer jail sentence.

He was also banned from driving for 12 months and told he must retake his test before driving again.

Police presence to deter drinkers

NEW police powers have been used to ban troublemakers from town centres.

During the past six weeks police have issued 12 official notices against people they felt could have started drink-related violence.

Four of the orders have been issued against people in Newmarket and one person was banned from the High Street and Jubilee Walk area of Haverhill. The other orders relate to areas of Bury St Edmunds and Sudbury.

Suffolk police started using powers under Section 27 of the Violent Crime Reduction Act, 2006, on February 20 and have warned they will give out more banning orders, if need be, during the Easter weekend.

The orders can operate for up to 48 hours and any breaches could result in arrest and a court appearance.

The force is also planning extra daytime patrols to cut school holiday crime.

Supt David Skevington said: "Officers will be on patrol in identified hotspot areas where historically offences of violence or rowdy behaviour have risen during this period.

"There will also be additional patrols in the busy town centres during the evenings.

"The combination of lighter and warmer evenings and the two bank holidays adds up to many more people coming into our towns for a night out. The majority want to enjoy their evening, drink responsibly and get home safely, and officers will be on hand to assist those who need help and reassurance, but they will also deal firmly with anyone causing trouble."

Police horses from the City of London force will be on patrol in Newmarket town centre on Saturday night, while American Air Force police will also be on patrol with Suffolk officers in Newmarket on Friday and Saturday to help deal with any military personnel from the nearby Mildenhall and Lakenheath bases."

Wheelie good tips to stay safe on roads

CYCLING students have been picking up the skills they need to prepare for National Bike to School Week.

Haverhill's Chalkstone Middle School is one of the first schools in Suffolk to offer Bikeability, the new Government-approved cycle training scheme.

Teacher Stuart Field said: "Our Year 6 students absolutely love doing their Bikeability training. Not only does it teach the children how to ride safely but it keeps them active and is a real confidence builder."

"It's been such an easy process for us to bring Bikeability into our school, and I urge other primary and middle schools in the region to come on board and start reaping the benefits."

Paul Robison, Bikeability manager, said: "Through highlighting Chalkstone's success in introducing Bikeability, we hope to encourage other schools in the area to get involved."

He added: "We want to give more Suffolk children the skills and confidence to ride their bikes on today's roads." National Bike to School Week starts on Monday, April 20.

WOULD-BE thieves were foiled when they were spotted outside a house.

The two men fled in a green Volvo car which had been left with its engine running outside the house in Sturmer Road, Haverhill.

One of the men was seen by the door of a shed where a lock had been forced. But he ran off when challenged and nothing was stolen.

The pair were believed to be in their late teens or early 20s and were wearing sports clothes and baseball caps. One was wearing a blue hooded top over a white top.

Anyone with information about the incident, which happened at around 7.15pm last Saturday, should call Sgt Darren Lamboll at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Young team get set for live night

LIVE bands and a human beatbox performance will feature in an alcohol-free event organised by young people, for young people in the Haverhill area.

A group of youngsters have been meeting regularly after school since January to put together the Laserhill Live event.

It will kick off at 7.30pm on Saturday, April 18, at Haverhill Arts Centre and include a live set from the VJ Youth crew, a games lounge and an alcohol-free cocktail bar.

Selective Walk, winners of this year's Haverhill Rock competition, will be taking the stage as will former winners, Solstice.

The line-up also includes DMS, 3 Screaming Popes and an acoustic set from new Haverhill band, Stop Thompson.

The Laserhill Live team have been supported by Michelle Brace, Haverhill Town Council's youth projects officer, and Simon Pickering, St Edmundsbury Borough Council's youth and community development officer.

Michelle said: "It's brilliant that the group's ideas have come together into this event."

"If Laserhill is a success then this is definitely something we can build on in the future."

Members of the CB9 Media Hub Club will be there on the night to document the event and create free snapshots of revellers.

Tickets, priced at £3, are available now from the box office at the arts centre on (01440) 714140.

Pupils go green to plant veg

VEGETABLES and flowers were planted at a village school's eco-day.

Parents helped the 57 pupils at Thurlow Primary School with the project, organised by teacher Catherine Cherry, which included establishing a herb garden.

Robert Mason, from Sturmer Nurseries, gave a talk, offering tips on gardening and plants, while the home and school association supported the day by giving cash to buy plants.

Youngsters also painted stones to make the border for the vegetable patch, made scarecrows and leaf prints.

Ros Bunting, the head teacher, said: "The children loved the day."

Pupils have been collecting points on "eco cards" for environmental activities such as recycling and walking to school. All completed cards went into a draw for a family ticket to Haverhill's Cineworld, which was won by Holly Carlton.

The school was recently praised by Ofsted inspectors who awarded it a number of "outstanding" marks – for the effectiveness of the early years foundation stage, children's enjoyment of learning and for care, support and guidance.

Tribute show for boys killed in tragic crash

A CHARITY concert will be held in memory of two teenage boys who died along with their father in a smash on the notorious A1307.

Tracey Horne, mother of Stephen Bocking, 13, and his brother Daniel, 14, who were both killed in the horrific crash on July 19 last year, is organising the concert for the end of the summer term.

It will raise money for the hospital unit which looked after the boys' sister, Amanda, following her miraculous escape from the incident.

Mrs Horne, of Spencer Close, Potton, Sandy, spoke to the Weekly News to pay tribute to her "wonderful boys" and her ex-husband David, who also perished in the accident, which occurred on the A1307 near Horseheath.

She said the "academically gifted and incredibly thoughtful" boys had everything to live for and their deaths had left an "unimaginable hole" in her family's life.

Mrs Horne, her new husband Michael, Daniel's twin brother James and Amanda are still struggling to come to terms with life without them.

Mrs Horne said: "We had been enjoying a normal evening in watching a film when there was a knock at the door and the police were there.

"I screamed when they told me. They then immediately whisked me to Addenbrooke's Hospital to be with Amanda as she lay in the intensive care unit."

Amanda spent six weeks in bed recovering after the accident and a further six weeks in a wheelchair while her body healed following fractures to her collarbone, pelvis, arm and leg.

Mrs Horne said: "Both Stephen and Daniel were lovely, lovely boys. Stephen wanted to be on the stage – he could sing, act, and he was academically minded as well.

"He worked hard at school so that if he couldn't make it on the stage he could become a teacher.

"Daniel had just chosen his GCSEs including business studies and cooking – he was a great little cook. One of the last things he made was a chocolate mousse cake – one of James Martin's recipes."

Further details of the charity show, which will be held at Sandy Upper School where Daniel was a pupil, will be released later this year.

Mrs Horne said: "We wanted to organise the show as a tribute to the boys, but also to raise money for the intensive care unit at Addenbrooke's which looked after Amanda.

"It will include numbers from some of Stephen's favourite musicals and feature a special performance from some of the doctors and nurses that looked after Amanda too."

Pack up for new arrivals

VILLAGES in West Suffolk are being encouraged to produce free welcome packs to help new residents settle in more easily.

And the West Suffolk Local Strategic Partnership (LSP) has produced free templates that should make the job easier.

The packs give newcomers information on village history, useful contact numbers and details of shops, businesses, groups and societies.

They are also useful for existing residents who may often have out-of-date information, or who may be inspired to join a new group after reading the list of clubs and societies.

The packs would be usually created by the parish or community council with the help of willing local volunteers.

West Suffolk LSP's rural issues group has developed a set of templates that provide an "off the peg" pack villages can use and simply fill with their own information.

Roy Banks, who chairs the group, said: "The initiatives the LSP is supporting are not new or difficult to establish, but often we can overlook simple solutions, which can bring a real benefit.

"We hope the idea of easy welcome packs will help newcomers settle in and feel a real part of the community."

The free templates are available via email, on CD or as a download from the website. To receive a copy email rural@stedsbc.gov.uk or visit www.onesuffolk.co.uk/wslsp

Money wasted on by-election

Sir, The recent by-election on the East Ward for Haverhill Town Council was a sham.

On the lower part of the Chalkstone estate we had nothing from the Conservative Party and two screwed up leaflets from the Labour Party. I did not see the election mentioned in either the Weekly News or the Haverhill Echo and it was not until I went to the Chalkstone Tenants and Residents' Association meeting on April 1 that I found out the election was the next day.

My husband and I went to vote at 3.30pm and there had only been 22 voters before us.

What a waste of taxpayers' money when it could have been spent on something more urgent.

Doctors under fire over hand washing

TRANSPLANT doctors at Addenbrooke's are still "under-performing" on hand-washing rules aimed at cutting superbug infections, says a governor.

Doctors in the transplant unit have the second-lowest hand hygiene scores at the Cambridge hospital, with a compliance rating of 86 per cent.

Patients in transplant units are potentially vulnerable to infections such as MRSA. To ensure their bodies do not reject transplanted organs, they are given drugs which suppress their immune systems.

Prof Bob Michell, a patient governor at Addenbrooke's, told a governors' meeting: "It's very concerning that the unit dealing with immunosuppressed patients continues to under-perform, and that under-performance is headed up by doctors themselves.

"We're not asking them to prove or disprove E=mc² – we're asking them to wash their hands."

Alcohol gels are used to prevent the spread of MRSA, while soap and hot water are the best weapons against stomach bug Clostridium difficile (C diff).

Despite transplant doctors improving their compliance from 75 per cent to 86 per cent in the latest report, some governors remain unhappy.

Dr Jag Ahluwalia, the trust's medical director, told governors Addenbrooke's should beat its target for reducing hospital-acquired cases of MRSA this year – although the C diff target was likely to be tighter.

The MRSA ceiling is set at 33 cases and the C diff ceiling at 300.

Dr Ahluwalia said the key to further progress was "not writing more policies – we have an abundance of those – but making sure our staff and visitors are compliant with those policies, and monitoring compliance even more".

Nurses have the best overall hand hygiene scores, with 100 per cent compliance in five out of eight departments, while doctors have the lowest overall scores.

Dr Ahluwalia also discussed the norovirus outbreak that closed 13 wards at Addenbrooke's in December, costing the trust £1.5 million.

He said that, in future, the trust would seek an "early warning" of increasing numbers of norovirus cases from GPs, "so we can pull up the shutters earlier than we did this year".

Marathon readers in Bible challenge

JEFFREY Archer, the best-selling author, is tackling another book feat – a Bible-reading marathon.

The ambitious read – from Genesis to the Resurrection – will take place in four Cambridgeshire village churches later this month as part of the Ely 900 celebrations, marking the ninth centenary of Ely Diocese.

Lord Archer and his wife Mary will join the Bishop of Ely, Dr Anthony Russell, the Bishop of Huntingdon, Dr David Thomson, Jim Paice, MP for South East Cambs, and Lord Lieutenant of Cambridgeshire Hugh Duberly, as guest readers.

Canon Francis Woolley said: "I thank our distinguished visitors for agreeing to take part. We are going to read the Bible for 12 hours each day, starting at 9am. Each reader will receive a certificate as a souvenir."

The eight-day event takes place at Weston Colville, West Wrating, West Wickham and Balsham between Saturday, April 25, and May 2.

It starts at St Mary's Church, Weston Colville on April 25 and 26, continues at St Mary's, West Wickham on April 27 and 28, at St Andrew's, West Wrating on April 29 and 30, and concludes at Holy Trinity, Balsham, on May 1 and 2.

Young squad hits the pitch in brand new kit

A HAVERHILL hotel is proving it is on the ball by sponsoring kit for a local football club.

Days Inn Haverhill is backing the Haverhill Rovers Under 10s Football Club, whose players have just received new shirts sponsored by the Football Foundation. Now the hotel chain is providing tracksuits, footballs, first aid kits and other accessories.

The team and their families were invited to Days Inn last weekend to enjoy breakfast before their home game. They were then given their new tracksuit tops, footballs and water bottles.

Donna Revell, general manager at the hotel, said: "Days Inn is proud to sponsor such an enthusiastic and talented new team, we wish them many successful seasons."

Brad Rice, Haverhill Rovers boys chairman, said: "I would like to thank Days Inn for sponsoring the under 10s.

"I'm sure they will all really appreciate it and we, as a club, certainly do in these difficult times."

Justin Farrant, the team's manager, said the young chargers were delighted with the new kit.

He said: "Everybody that came to the breakfast would like to say a massive thank you to all that helped make the morning a success."

College reward for effort

A HAVERHILL school's dedication to helping GCSE students fulfil their full potential was recognised at an awards evening.

Specialist schools and academies from around the country, including Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College, were invited to the event in London, which recognised their efforts to add value to their students' GCSE achievements.

BY JOHN DOWNING

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Value-added scores show the progress students in a school have made between their test results at age 11 and at age 16.

Samuel Ward was one of the schools that had achieved 10 points or more on the Jenson-value added (JVA) scale for five GCSEs at grades A* to C.

Professor David Jesson, an expert in performance evaluation at the University of York, who developed the JVA measure, was the guest speaker.

He was joined by Sir James Hill, chairman of the Specialist Schools and Academies Trust (SSAT), to present the awards.

Elizabeth Reid, chief executive of the SSAT, said: "Schools that add value demonstrate the difference that schools can make by giving more young people the opportunity to fulfil their potential and succeed in the 21st century.

I congratulate these schools for their achievements, which are the result of hard work and commitment."

Howard Lay, head of Samuel Ward, said: "I am proud of what our pupils and staff are achieving and the award acknowledges all their success."

'Don't drive tired'

ROAD safety chiefs are urging motorists to make sure they do not drive when they are too tired over the Easter break.

Many families will be making longer car journeys to holiday destinations but they are being warned that the consequences of falling asleep at the wheel can be devastating.

Up to 20 per cent of crashes on major roads are down to driver fatigue – and about 300 people are killed each year as a result of motorists dropping off to sleep.

Cllr Matt Bradney, highways boss on Cambridgeshire County Council, has advised motorists to plan their journeys and take at least a 15-minute break for every two hours of travel. He also urged them to be aware of drivers who may be temporarily using our roads and unfamiliar with the area.

CP

No red tops, it's all about the Times

PAGES torn from the Financial Times helped hairdresser Aimee Lee win a top award at an annual hair and beauty festival.

Aimee, from Haverhill, won the Alf Nitsche Award for the most imaginative hairdressing entry at West Suffolk College's annual Festival of Hair and Beauty.

Aimee, who works at Hair by Debbie salon in the town, dressed model Zoe Bailey, also from Haverhill, in a dress made from pages of the Financial Times.

The annual festival was held at the Corn Exchange, Bury St Edmunds, and visitors were treated to a dazzling display of glamour and extremes of cutting edge fashion as hair stylists and make-up artists let their imaginations run riot.

Other winners on the night from area were Lauren Haynes, Emma Sellers, Karen Mayne and Michelle Tyler.

'Keep eye on your children'

PARENTS are being asked to take more responsibility for their children and keep them out of trouble during the Easter school break.

The Suffolk police force is asking parents to ensure they know where their children are and when they will be coming home.

Police records show that there is an increase in crime and complaints about anti-social behaviour during the school holidays – particularly on Saturdays and Sundays.

There are an average of 12 additional crimes reported each day and an extra 12 complaints about bad behaviour.

Chief Insp Paul Sharp said: "We don't want to stop young people having fun, but we would ask them to consider others and also their own safety when they are out and about during the holidays.

BY JOHN DOWNING

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"As a parent, carer or guardian you can play a key role by asking your children what they are doing when they go out, as well as explain to them what the rest of the community finds acceptable in terms of their conduct.

"Just remember, you are still responsible for your children's safety and their actions."

Some basic safety tips for young people and children, suggested by the police are:

■ let someone know where you are going and tell them if your plans change;

■ if you need help, approach a family group rather than a single adult;

■ meet friends in a public place so you won't be waiting on your own;

■ plan how you are going to get home;

■ look out for each other, stay with your friends and don't let anyone wander off;

■ walk away from groups that might provoke you;

■ don't lose your cool: think about keeping yourself out of trouble;

■ remember that messing about with your friends can get out of control; and

■ enjoy yourselves but think about how your actions affect others.

Pledge to fix holes in road

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A SUFFOLK county councillor has defended the authority's performance when it comes to dealing with potholes in Haverhill roads following recent criticisms.

Cllr Tim Marks, a former Haverhill mayor, said he wanted to "put the record straight" after Labour members of the town council attacked the county council's decision to shift £2.2 million into reserves, instead of investing it in local roads.

Labour's Cllr Patrick Hanlon described the road near the Sainsbury's supermarket as "absolutely atrocious" and said holes had been filled once but the work was not up to standard at they needed repairing again.

But Cllr Marks, who represents the Cangle ward, said the Conservative-controlled county council had put an extra £1 million into highway maintenance to repair the damage to roads caused by the exceptional winter weather.

He said: "Money had always been available for all dangerous potholes to be repaired quickly."

"Furthermore, where the damage is very bad on the road between Park Road and the Sainsbury's roundabout the road will be completely resurfaced.

"This work was planned to commence this week but has been delayed to mid May due to the need to close the road.

"So, far from diverting money from road maintenance the council has made more money available to keep the town's roads safe, which is the main priority."

MP to fight travellers' site plan

AN MP met residents and council chiefs to hear concerns about plans to enlarge a travellers' site.

Richard Spring, MP for West Suffolk, held a meeting at Tattersalls in Newmarket to discuss proposals for the site at Kelly's Meadow, in Wickham-brook.

The Government has allocated £97 million to provide extra pitches for gypsies and travellers and St Edmundsbury Borough Council is required to increase the number of pitches in the area.

Geoff Rivers, chief executive of the council, was among those at last Friday's meeting.

Mr Spring said: "I have met on several occasions with members of the Wick-hambrook Action Group, along with Geoff Rivers, to discuss the proposed plans to increase the number of caravan pitches at Kelly's Meadow.

"It is absurd that as a result of the requirement by central Government we could lose control of the number of caravans, out of the control of the present occupiers.

"This could produce a series of cost, environmental and enforcement problems. I am determined that this expansion does not go ahead."

Region's house prices show fall

BY JOHN DOWNING

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

HOUSE prices across East Anglia have fallen at the fastest rate of any region in England according to a new survey – but Cambridge estate agents say the city's market is "stabilising".

The Nationwide's house price index shows the fall in house prices across East Anglia for the first quarter of 2009 was 5.6 per cent, compared with 4.2 per cent for the UK. It put the region's average house price at £143,987, down by 19.9 per cent over the past year.

The quarterly and annual price drops came in spite of a market spike in March which increased UK house prices by 0.9 per cent.

In Cambridgeshire, the survey found the average house price is now £178,025, down 17 per cent on the equivalent figure in the first quarter of 2008 – but it is still 94 per cent higher than it was 10 years ago.

Martin Walshe, director of residential sales at Cheffins, which has branches in Haverhill, Saffron Walden, Cambridge, Newmarket and Ely, said: "We have a good idea of what is happening within a 25-mile radius of Cambridge.

"Prices are 15 to 20 per cent lower than at the very peak in 2007 but in parts of the city it is more like 10 to 15 per cent."

"But the market has changed dramatically in the last four to six weeks. We have seen an upturn in sales levels. Cambridge is a desirable location and the balance of supply and demand is stabilising the market."

Holding steady: house prices in Cambridge remain buoyant as prices elsewhere fall.

Nick Redmayne, a partner at estate agent Redmayne Arnold & Harris, said: "In Cambridge demand is outstripping supply and prices have not gone down 5.6 per cent."

Investors have come back to buying in the city and demand for the classic Victorian and Edwardian townhouse is high."

David Potts, the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors' east operations director, said the market is stabilising after a "torrid" 12 months and pointed to Bank of England figures showing an increase in mortgage approvals in February.

Screen test for Downs

ALL women attending West Suffolk Hospital for antenatal care will now be offered a new screening test for Down's syndrome.

The combined test, which includes blood samples and a nuchal fold scan, at the hospital in Bury St Edmunds was previously only available to private patients.

It is expected to achieve a detection rate of more than 75 per cent.

Hossein Khaled, public health practitioner at NHS Suffolk, said: "This test is offered to all women as part of their care from the NHS.

"As soon as a woman sees her GP she will be encouraged to contact the local midwifery service and, should she wish to take up the offer of this new test, be able to have the screening test done within the correct timeframe.

"This is good news for pregnant women across Suffolk. The test improves the available antenatal screening options and uses the most up-to-date screening expertise."

"It is vital that women are booked and referred to a midwife by eight to 10 weeks of pregnancy to ensure they are screened within the time-frame."

BANK HOLIDAY MONDAY MARKET

13th April

9am – 4pm

A GREAT DAY OUT WITH 1,000'S OF BARGAINS

Easter: Lots of opportunities for family fun.

EASTER is nearly here and soon we will be gathering with friends and family on the first bank holiday of the year.

So after you've indulged on Easter eggs and finished cooing over the fluffy bunnies and chicks that line supermarket shelves save some time to make the most of the Easter break.

There are lots of things to do, which will keep the whole family entertained and won't cost a fortune either.

Now spring has arrived there is plenty of work to be done in the garden particularly if you are planning on growing your own vegetables to save money over the next few months. So get the children involved and start weeding and tidying borders and allotments – you will soon be reaping the rewards.

However if it's a day out you're looking for but you don't think the little ones will appreciate the finery of a stately home, then head to one of the National Trust properties that are hosting Easter Egg Trails. Visit www.eastereggtrails.co.uk to find your nearest participating venue.

If you feel like having a little time to yourself why not put in some extra time at the gym or swimming pool? You may find they are quieter than usual as most people will be too occupied eating chocolate!

But if its activities you're looking for then why not pick up a bargain at one of the fantastic markets being held in the area or make a point of visiting that antique fair or craft event you've always wanted to go to.

If you're in need of some inspiration then take a look at the adverts on this page highlighting events taking place near you this weekend.

Hospital to lift mobile ban on general wards

BY JOHN MORGAN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

ADDENBROOKE'S is set to let patients use their mobile phones on some wards, in a trial scheme.

Trust members at the hospital have agreed the current blanket ban on mobiles on wards is "unworkable" and that phones set to silent should be allowed.

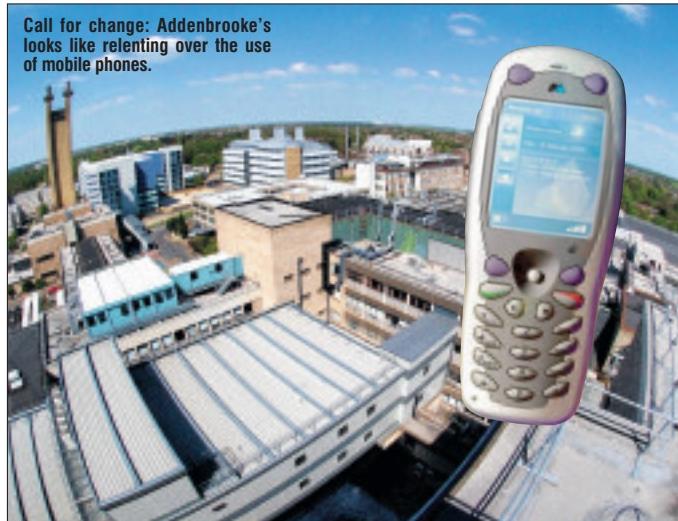

When the Department of Health advised hospitals in January that they should permit use of mobiles on wards, Addenbrooke's said it would not change its policy of only allowing patients to use them in public spaces.

But at a governors' meeting, it was revealed the hospital is likely to bow to pressure – to the dismay of some.

Brian Gerbaldi, a public governor, said: "There is the obvious concern that no-one wants to be in bed ill if you are next door to someone who will not stop talking on their phone."

"And all phones these days are also cameras. I am very concerned about taking the easy way out, as we did with smoking [Addenbrooke's lifted its site-wide smoking ban after patients refused to stop] and not looking at every aspect of this."

Call for change: Addenbrooke's looks like relenting over the use of mobile phones.

"The fact that phones are also cameras – this aspect is a major danger."

Dr Mary Archer, trust chairman, said "the importance of staying in touch with loved ones while in hospital" must be balanced against privacy concerns. She added that the trial scheme would see the use of mobiles allowed, with trust staff then asking patients for their views.

The Department of Health advised hospitals that mobiles should be allowed on wards as communication with family was "an essential element of comfort and support".

Many welcomed the end of the ban as a blow to bedside phone schemes run by private companies, which some patients said were far too expensive.

Minutes from an Addenbrooke's working group involving members and patients note: "It was agreed that the total ban on use of mobile phones in the hospital is unworkable."

"Senior staff are seen in the hospital using their mobile phones, which encourages others to do likewise."

Although mobile phones will be allowed on general wards, they will remain banned on intensive care wards.

The trial scheme will need final approval from governors and directors, on a date to be fixed, before it can begin.

Join in the hunt for wooden eggs

ALMOST three decades of family fun will continue tomorrow when the traditional Easter egg hunt takes place at Kedington.

The event, which is in its 29th year, will begin at 2pm, when children, parents and grandparents are welcomed along to buy tickets to hunt for more than 500 wooden blocks hidden in the Great Meadow around Kedington Community Centre in Arms Lane.

Everyone receives a small Cadbury's crème egg, but some special green blocks can be exchanged for larger eggs.

Council's bid for carved statue

CLARE Parish Council has applied for planning permission to place a carved wooden structure in an area of woodland to the west of Clare Cemetery, at the rear of the High Street.

The application has been made to St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Plan for barn refurbishment

A PLANNING application to refurbish a barn – to include raising a roof pitch and reconfiguring access doors and windows – at Farmers Farm, Stoke by Clare, has been submitted to St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Flying fiddles and a top dog at arts centre

A TRULY inventive singer and fiddle player, Eliza Carthy, comes to the Haverhill Arts Centre next week.

Cathy has received two Mercury Music Prize nominations and innumerable other accolades.

Over her 15-year career she has performed and recorded with artists as diverse as Paul Weller, The Wainwrights, Nick Cave and Joan Baez. Arguably the most impressive and engaging folk performer of a generation, Eliza previously played at the arts centre with Waterson:Carthy to rave reviews.

She takes to the stage on Wednesday, April 15, at 8pm.

■ The always popular Hull Truck Theatre return to the arts centre with Beef on Friday, April 17, at 8pm. Dave was trapped in his own pitiful physique but he dreamed of being somebody – a somebody women fight over and men would envy.

But then something happened to change his life and now Dave is 17 stone of rippling muscle. He got what he wanted, but now is losing his mind in a body he can't control.

Bleak, funny and shocking, this is a story of revenge gone wrong, contains strong language and is suitable for ages 16 and over.

■ If you're looking for somewhere to take the youngsters during the Easter break, look no further. The arts centre will be screening Bolt (PG) today, Tuesday, April 14, Wednesday, April 15 and Thursday, April 16 at 10.30am. Bolt, a superstar pup who has lived his whole life on the set of his action TV show, believes he has the superpowers of his on-screen character.

But when he finds himself all alone in New York he learns that he is just an ordinary dog and must rely on his new friends Mittens the cat and Rhino the hamster to get home. With the voice of John Travolta, among others, this film is sure to keep the youngsters amused.

■ The big screen will also see the arrival of The Secret of Moonacre (U), starring Dakota Blue Richards, Tim Curry and Ioan Gruffudd.

When Maria Merryweather's

father dies, she is forced to go and live with an eccentric uncle, at the Moonacre Manor. Through a mysterious book left to her by her father, Maria finds herself entangled in a bitter feud between the Merryweather and De Noir families over a set of magical pearls.

It is showing at 2.30pm today and again on and Thursday, April 16.

■ Kate Winslet, Kathy Bates and Leonardo Di Caprio star in Revolutionary Road (15), adapted from the 1961 novel by Richard Yates on Tuesday, April 14 and Wednesday, April 22, at 7.45pm and on Monday, April 20, at 1.30pm.

Frank and April proudly declare their independence from the suburban inertia that surrounds them and determine never to be trapped by the social confines. Yet they find themselves becoming exactly what they didn't expect.

■ The arts centre will be closed for Good Friday and Easter Monday.

■ For more details about the shows, or to book tickets, phone (01440) 714140 or go to www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk

Inventive: Eliza Carthy will be wowing the crowds at Haverhill Arts Centre next week.

Back to battlefields for war tale revival

BY NIK SHELTON

AS HE peers through the lashing, bitterly cold rain at the inscriptions on the memorial stones which now spread themselves across the battlefields of Ypres, director Tristram Powell is forced to come face to face with the reality of the story he has decided to tell.

During the First World War, as British and Commonwealth soldiers fought on the Western Front snaking through Belgium, 312 soldiers were shot by firing squads for desertion.

For King and Country, which is playing at the Arts Theatre in Cambridge this week, tells the story of one young soldier, Private Arthur Hamp, and the defence lawyer whose job it is to save him from execution, Lieutenant Charles Hargreaves.

There are no famous names on the cast list – instead, says Tristram, the star of the story is The Great War and our continuing fascination with it. So to get closer to the atmosphere of the time, we have travelled to visit the cemeteries which now stand eerily still and silent on the still battle-scarred landscape close to the Belgian-French border.

Arriving at the Tyne Cott Cemetery, where the memorial stones sit side by side and row upon row disappearing into the distance, the freezing wind and rain that meets us gives us an instant window into the hell the men whose names are inscribed here must have been through. Many are carved with the simple anonymous words, Known unto God: a scene from For King And Country.

"Known Unto God".

"What impresses me about visiting the actual battlefield is the vulnerability of the soldiers," Tristram says, looking around him. "The landscape is so open and the hills here are just mounds really."

The story started life as an incident related in the autobiography of a soldier, and from there it was turned into the 1964 play Hamp, written by John Wilson. Its name was changed for the film version made that same year, starring Kirk Douglas as Hargreaves and Tom Courtenay as Hamp.

For this revival of the story, Tristram has immersed himself in the period in an attempt to faithfully recreate the harsh dilemmas the characters faced in an era when society had not yet grasped the effects of shell shock and battle fatigue.

"That particular moment in 1918 they were only beginning to understand that even the bravest soldiers could crack under the appalling strain," says Tristram.

"The technology had changed. It was a mixture of old style tactics with the sort of state-of-the-art industrial killing machines which were coming in."

"You have to put yourself back into the mindset of the time to really understand. By 1917 these soldiers and officers are really just concerned with survival. There's still no sign of an end in sight, mutiny is on the threshold and there's the unspeakable conditions in the trenches. I'm amazed at their sheer ability to carry on."

■ For King and Country runs until nightly Saturday, at 7.45pm with a Saturday matinee at 2.30pm.

Tickets are £10-£27. Phone (01223) 503333 or go to www.cambridgeartscentre.com

Buyers spot a luxury deal

BRITAIN'S second-hand sector is seeing an emergence of value seekers at the luxury end, says market intelligence firm Glass's, the publisher of Glass's Guide to Car Values.

Recent price falls within the used 4x4 and luxury vehicle sectors have come to a halt for the time being, tempting increasing numbers of used car buyers to purchase a more prestigious car than they would usually be able to afford.

"This low point in prices has triggered demand from a type of buyer long absent from the market," says Adrian Rushmore, managing editor at Glass's.

"A large proportion of value seekers are taking

Used Car Expert magazine prices a 2007 2.2D IS, with average mileage of 9,800, at £14,000 from franchised forecourts.

■ MINI: "It is maxi-sized on the road, but Mini inside, although the performance and character attracts buyers and usually keeps prices very high.

"The price of a three-year-old car today is significantly less than it would have been two years ago.

"In the case of a Mercedes-Benz S-Class, the saving could be more than £7,000.

"But these deals won't last for long – observations suggest that prices are beginning to rise," Rushmore says.

So, do you buy a used car right now from a main dealer or not?

Matthew Tumbridge, editor of Used Car Expert magazine, did some tentative investigations.

The main dealer in question has a used approved programme, which means the car should be prepared to a better

Breaking up ain't hard to do

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF)

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility.

Cass gets smart to save Rovers

Haverhill Rovers 1
NST Strikers 0

Cams Mini League, Under-10
ROVERS turned in a smart performance to match their new Days Inn-sponsored tracksuits.

Pressing from the outset, Billy Campbell, Kai Farrant and Jordan Hopkins all hit the woodwork before Scott Jessop broke the deadlock with a low drive.

But, despite creating and missing several chances in the second half – Jordan Greenaway, Scott Jessop and Conor Holden created chances for Josh Brown and man of the match Jordan Hopkins – Rovers' advantage was preserved by keeper Lewis Cass, who made some good saves in the dying moments.

Whittleford Warriors 1
West Wrating 1

Cams Mini League, Under-11A
MO Horsley scored the all-important goal to give Wrating the advantage after they weathered an early scare.

Whittleford were awarded a penalty in the opening seconds, but visiting officials felt justice was done when the kick went wide.

Wrating, though, worked hard to create openings while coping with their rivals' long-ball approach, and broke the deadlock in the second half when Horsley struck from Charlie Ellam's fine run.

The equaliser came from a bouncy shot eight minutes from time.

Youngs signs off on emotional day

Priory Parkside 1
Grampian Gunners 1

Cambridge and District Colts League, Under-15A

DESPITE their best efforts, Grampian were unable to give manager Simon Youngs a winning send-off in his final match in charge.

Youngs, who is moving to the youth set-up at Cambridge City after four years and 100 games with Gunners, said: "I was pleased with the way we played and we deserved at least a point. The boys are a credit to their parents and the club."

"It was very emotional for me at the end."

The visitors controlled most of the first half – Luke Halls having an effort cleared off the line – and Devon Guyon put them ahead. Priory equalised 10 minutes into a second half which Gunners shaded despite a late scare.

Haverhill Rovers 2
Chatteris Town 0

Cambridge and District Colts League, Under-15B

ROVERS face a showdown against close rivals Buckden a week on Sunday to decide the destination of the divisional title.

They got themselves into the right frame of mind for the crunch clash by picking off Chatteris, although they felt they should have won by a greater margin.

After a bright start, Alex Naggy broke the deadlock when he latched on to a rebound from Chris Ball's effort. The second came from Luke Greenaway's inch-perfect diagonal ball to Jake Fawcett at the far post.

■ The title decider is at Hamlet

Croft on April 19 (2pm). Entrance is free and refreshments will be on sale.

Hardwick Harriers 0
Haverhill Rovers 9

Cambridge and District Colts League, Under-16C

ROVERS did not really click into gear until the second half, when a tactical substitution turned the game in their favour.

Ashcroft, Edwards, and Pearson scored in the first half, but it was the introduction of Lewis and Young that proved pivotal. Young scored a hat-trick, Edwards added another two to finish with a treble, and Lewis rounded it off.

Withersfield 4
Priory Parkside B 0

Cambridge and District Colts League, Under-12A

WITHERSFIELD made a flying start to the game, camping out in the Parkside half and taking a 3-0 lead into the interval, thanks to Joe Baker, Mitchell Burr and Oliver Fish. However, the visitors tightened up in the second half and restricted Withersfield to just one goal, Murray Barker slotting in after a goalmouth scramble.

The home side received another boost after the game when they learned they were clear at the top of the table after Bar Hill, who were joint top, had been beaten by Parkside's A team.

Delaware Feather Angels 4
Northcroft Rangers 2

Treadfirst Sudbury and District Sunday League, Division Five

DELAWARE Feather Angels put aside their recent poor form to rejoin the race for promotion, thanks to a hat-trick from Seamus Mackintosh.

Fired by a first-minute goal from Darren Thirby, they picked themselves up and stretched their lead from the penalty spot, Mackintosh converting. Northcroft hit back, but the Angels did not let their heads drop and continued pressure resulted in two further goals for man-of-the-match Mackintosh.

League sets star limit for new season

HAVERHILL'S Summer League will have some amended rules this season.

At the league's annual meeting, members decided to change the match format to four three-leg singles matches (401 start), two best-of-three legs pairs (501 start), a one-leg triples match (701), a fours leg (801) and a 'Gallon' match (1001) with a minimum four players a side.

They have also decided to limit teams to one senior county player a match, although they will allow sides to have more signed on.

And to be eligible for the knockout competitions, players must be registered before the league has reached the three-quarters stage, although players can be registered on the night at the committee's discretion.

Registration for the league will take place at the ESMC on April 20 (8pm).

Further details from league secretary Andy Pordage on 07814 373772.

Committee: Simon Wells (chairman), Andy Pordage (secretary), Dave Blackburn, Rob Scott, Paul Hullig, Ken Pyke.

Bergin looks on bright side of last-game loss

Haverhill 6 Fly 32

HAVERHILL 22-32 ELY
Eastern Counties League, Division Two
HAVERHILL'S rugby season drew to a close with a home defeat by promotion-contenders Ely.

Their points came from the boot of Jake Plumridge, and Haverhill skipper Paul Bergin said: "We started really well and spent the first 30 minutes in their half. "They took their time and sucked it up. We were competitive throughout the whole game. It was a good performance from us. "Losing against good opposition is fine if your performance is good. We tested them enough to have them panicked for a little while."

Ely's victory moved them level on points at the top with Southwold, who lost to Ipswich, but they have an inferior points' difference.

They should go up in second place, but will have to wait to find out until league restructuring is confirmed.

Concerned: Weston Colville-based opener Tom Westley looks a touch anxious as Cambridge UCCE put down another chance in the opening match of the cricket season at Fenner's in Cambridge on Monday.

Westley, the Essex opener, scored 42 as a strong county line-up, aided by several fielding mishaps, reached 275 for 5 off their 50 overs.

UCCE, though, went close with Eddie Ballard scoring 106 as they fell short on 242 for 7.
